SPECIAL NOTICES.

The letters patent on Mando.ins cover both the construction of the instrument and the very periect and largenious iron form upon which they are made; the latter enabling the manufacturers to make an instrument of more elegant moue; than has ever been produced; and the iormer assigns to them exclusively the right to make a Mandolin with ribs upon the inside instead of cioth or paper. All the resonance of the wood is preserved by their method, which permits of a free vibration of every part of the instrument, unrestricted by give, cloth or paper, which are invariably found in the instruments of other makers. The periect design of the Mandolins, the beautiful and correct curve lines, the elegant finish and sweet yet powerful tone they are capable of producing, place the WASH BURN ANDIOLINS at once at the head of all instruments of their class.
